

Dr. Katia Canenguez is a bicultural/bilingual (Spanish) Pediatric Psychologists in the Department of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry at the Massachusetts General Hospital/MassGeneral for Children and an Instructor at Harvard Medical School. Dr. Canenguez received her B.A. from Boston College, Ed.M. from Harvard University, Ph.D. from University of Massachusetts, Boston and completed her pre-doctoral internship and post-doctoral fellowship at MGH.

Her clinical interests and expertise revolve around the practice of pediatric behavioral medicine. In her clinical work she has been actively involved in providing treatment for patients of diverse backgrounds afflicted with anxiety, depression, trauma, adjustment issues, with comorbid medical conditions. Her research interests are in the areas of behavioral health disparities, resilience, community mental health, global health, evidence-based interventions to promote well-being, and research for policy change. Dr. Canenguez is interested in the intersection of health, mental health and education with a focus on developing evidence based effective prevention and intervention programs that are culturally sensitive.